ASSESSMENT TASKS AND DUE DATES

1. Magazine

Length:	1000 words
Learning outcomes:	2, 4
Percentage weighting:	15%
Due date:	11.59pm, 28 August

Write short article suitable for publishing in a magazine or on web site that might be read by youth pastors and other church leaders that responds to the following:

Christians are meant to be in the world but not of it. Therefore to be faithful to the gospel and to live the Christian life, Christians should have nothing to do with any popular culture unless it's Christian popular culture.

Your article should be written in a style suitable for general, non-academic readership, but should include a bibliography of works used to prepare it, and which might be helpful for the readers. Please cite any quotations used with academic referencing.

Criteria for Assessment

1	Argument given for engaging with popular culture in the church's mission and ministry.
2	Biblical and theological themes and material
3	Appropriate writing for the target audience
4	Quality of written expression
5	Accuracy of bibliography and other referencing

2. Cultural Analysis (Film Festival)

Length:	2500 words
Learning outcomes:	1, 5
Percentage weighting:	35%
Due date:	11.59pm, 25 September

In this assignment you are to design a film festival around a particular public issue in order to generate discussion and action within a targeted community (particularly youth or a community interacting with youth). Your film festival should consist of three (3) relevant films selected from films produced in NZ and/or overseas.

This is a proposal for a film festival – your festival should not be performed or held as part of this assignment. You should however think carefully about the particular community (church, youth group, school class, community group, wider community etc.) you wish to raise the issue with and tailor your film festival to that audience. Your festival should also clearly demonstrate to the marker the critical theological reflection that went into the planning of the festival and in the selection of the films. You should state what kind of reaction or response you are intending to generate.

Your assignment requires you to produce both of the following:

- A4 poster (colour or black/white) promoting the festival (5%)
- A 2000 word piece of academic written work (30%)
The following should be included in this:
 - Identify the public issue being engaged with, and demonstrate why it is relevant to your targeted community.
 - What your goals are for the film festival.
 - Justify the selection of your three films and demonstrate how they relate to your topic and to each other. For each film:
 - Provide background information on the film and plot.
 - Demonstrate how the film is relevant, and what critical responses the film received since its release.
 - Show your critical theological reasoning underpinning your engagement with the issue.
 - Describe how you will structure your event including (but not limited to) the location, time frame, how engagement and discussion will be generated etc.

Time will be spend in class talking about how one might plan a film festival, and there will be additional material to assist you in Moodle.

Criteria for Assessment

1	Focus and goals(s) of film festival
2	The theological rationale underpinning the film festival
3	Film selection
4	Festival structure
5	Evidence and quality of research for festival.
6	Quality of written and visual expression
7	Accuracy of bibliography and other referencing

3. Essay

Length: 3500 words
 Learning outcomes: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5
 Percentage weighting: 50%
 Due date: 11.59pm, 28 October

You are to write an essay on one of the topics listed below. Your essay should engage theologically and critically with popular and youth cultures, and demonstrate the relevance of that engagement to the individual Christian, the church’s mission and life, and wider society.

You should use on the analytical methods presented in the course (e.g. Vanhoozer’s cultural exegesis scheme or Ward’s production-text-audience approach) for shaping your essay.

Essay topics

- a. Choose a biblical character (not Jesus of Nazareth) or character group and discuss the way this character or group is presented within a biblical text or book, and how it is interpreted and portrayed within popular culture.
- b. What impact does advertising have upon the church, its members, and wider society?
- c. Choose a well-known artist in popular culture artist (music, film, art, TV). Explain and assess how the Bible and religious material informs his or her contribution to popular culture, and what impact that has had.
- d. Superhero movies are sometimes described as contemporary morality plays that teach us values and ways of living. If so, what impact does that have upon upon the church, its members, and wider society?
- e. Compare a gospel presentation of Jesus with someone portrayed as a contemporary messianic figure.
- f. Evaluate how either the figure of the vampire or the angel interacts in popular culture with religious and biblical themes.
- g. Jesus said the greatest commands were to love God and love your neighbour. What does this look like in a world where we're wrapped in media and technology?

Criteria for Assessment

1	Essay addresses the topic
2	Analysis of popular culture and relevant 'texts'
3	Theological engagement with popular culture
4	Engagement relevant to the individual Christian, the church's mission and life, and wider society
5	Evidence and quality of research for essay. Access and use of appropriate books, journal articles, and other sources.
6	Quality of written expression
7	Accuracy of bibliography and other referencing
