COURSE DESCRIPTION

The arts provide a crucial learning avenue to make meaning of the world in which we live. In this course, students will explore ways in which the arts are taught in New Zealand primary schools and through a range of artistic expression enrich their own theological understanding and creative potential.

There are four specific learning sub areas within The Arts; music, drama, dance and visual arts. Each area will contribute to an overarching rationale for teaching The Arts.

This course specifically addresses Graduating Teacher Standard 1.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Students will:

- a. critically examine the relationship between The Arts and theology
- b. synthesise literacy and pedagogy in The Arts
- c. apply skills and knowledge in The Arts
- d. critically evaluate effective teaching and learning in all areas of The Arts in The New Zealand curriculum (2007).
